

COMPLETE DOMINATION OF CAMBRAI REGION BY BRITISH

DESPERATE DAY LONG CLOSE UP FIGHTING

Nightfall Found Waves of Infantry Surging Back and Forth in the Streets of the Village.

Their Crimson Bayonets Telling the Story of the Awful Conflict.

(By Associated Press Cable)

British Army Headquarters in France, November 25.—This morning found the line of battle of the weary but determined British troops stretched in a semi-circle around Bourlon Woods, and Bourlon village, which nestles at the northwestern edge of the forest.

It was a line which had been established in the face of dogged resistance on the part of the Germans, who had fallen back step by step fighting with the fury of despair.

All day yesterday the opposing forces struggled bitterly at close quarters for possession of the little village from which the British were forced Friday, after gaining a footing in the rush that took them through Bourlon.

Nightfall still found waves of infantry surging back and forth through the streets of the hamlet and among the houses, their crimson bayonets telling the story of the terrible conflict being waged.

Gradually the Germans fell back the British pressing forward with grim persistence which the enemy could not withstand and the hamlet was finally cleared of the major portion of the German troops.

By Associated Press Dispatch. Washington, November 26.—Continued stupendous appropriation bills and other war legislation will feature the legislative program of the session of Congress which is to open December 3rd, and probably run on until next Autumn, is the opinion of leaders here today.

STONE'S TALK IS REFLECTION OF SENTIMENT

Missouri Senator Would Now Declare War on Germany's Allies.

By Associated Press Dispatch.

Washington, November 26.—Declaration of war against Austria, Turkey and Bulgaria, chairman Stone of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, declared today seems "exceedingly advisable to simplify a situation now anomalous."

"We are in fact," he said, "now at war with Germany's allies."

Senator Stone's only reservation was that such action should be in harmony with the policy of the executive branch of the government. Although he voted against the declaration of war on Germany, he has reiterated that the war, once begun, has his whole support.

His statement today was taken as indicative of the agitation for war on Germany's allies which will face Congress.

NEWS PRINT PAPER MAKERS LOOSENING UP

Eighty-five Percent Agree to Sell at Lower Prices.

By Associated Press Dispatch.

New York, November 26.—News print paper manufacturers representing 85 per cent of the output in the country will sell to publishers at 3 cents per pound until April 1st and after that at a price to be fixed by the Federal Trade Commission, under an agreement reached today between the government and six of seven paper manufacturers charged with violation of the Sherman Anti-Trust law.

United States Judge Myer signed a decree under which the newspaper manufacturers' association whose executive committee include five of the seven defendants, was dissolved.

This decree does not take away from the defendants the right to co-operate between now and April first in placing facts before the Federal Trade Commission as a basis for the price to be fixed.

The decree was affirmatively presented by the government and was quashed to by all seven defendants.

Edward W. Backus, president of the Minnesota and Ontario Paper Co., and the Fort Francis Pulp and Paper Company, did not agree to the three cent price up to April first, but asked that the Federal Trade Commission fix the price after January 1st.

George H. Mead, chairman of the executive committee of the Newsprint Manufacturing Association, Philip T. Dodge, president of the International Paper Company, Edward W. Backus, George C. Haon, Jr., and G. H. P. Gould, comprising the executive committee of the Newsprint Manufacturers' Association; Alexander Smith, banker, and Fred J. S. Sesebrenner, paper manufacturer.

Success Comes After Two Days of Most Vicious Fighting.

Taking of Bourlon Position by Byng Draws Eloquent Tribute from Haig.

Crowns Successful Operation and Opens Way to Further Advantages.

Italians Hold Austro-German Hordes in Check.

By Associated Press Dispatch.

British troops have captured the high ground in Bourlon Woods and now dominate the region about Cambrai. This success came after two days' of the most vicious fighting and its importance is indicated in part by the fact the German traffic southeast from Cambrai has been heavy. The probability being that the civilian population has been removed.

General Byng's latest triumph was one of hard and heroic endeavor. In paying tribute to the third army Field Marshal Haig declared the capture of the Bourlon position crowns a most successful operation and opens the way to further exploitation of the advantages already gained.

In six days General Byng and the third army have broken the Hindenburg line, taking a score of villages, secured the dominating positions west of Cambrai and overrunning territory equal to that gained in six months in the drive in the Ypres salient.

Nearly 10,000 prisoners, 100 guns and much war material have been captured.

DEATH CLAIMS MRS. JOHNSON

Widespread regret attends the announcement that Mrs. Armida Johnson, widow of one of the wealthy and influential farmers of the county had answered the eternal summons Monday morning at half past ten o'clock at her home at Johnson's Crossing. For some time Mrs. Johnson suffered from heart trouble and for several weeks has been confined to her home. Nevertheless, the seriousness of her condition was not generally realized and her death comes as a shock to a large family connection and many friends both in Fayette and Ross county. Mrs. Johnson's earlier home.

In Mrs. Johnson's death the community loses a fine type of Christian woman, whose potent influence was always exerted for the betterment of conditions. She was prominently identified with philanthropies, as her husband had been before her, and open ed her heart and her generous means to many calls.

It was due to Mr. Johnson's gifts of $10,000 that late additions to necessary to the Children's Home could be made and prominent among Mrs. Johnson's donations were liberal sums given to the Young Men's Christian Association of this city.

Mrs. Johnson belonged to the Malloy family, one of the prominent Ross county pioneer families, and leaves one brother, Mr. L. C. Malloy, of the Plymouth pike. Since the death of Mr. Johnson, Miss Julia Hyen, a devoted friend, had made her home with Mrs. Johnson and taken up the business management of the farm. The ties between them now severed were unusually close and throughout her last illness Miss Hyer gave every possible care, such as is seldom found except in the immediate family circle. Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

HARRIS SENTENCED TO STATE PRISON

John Harris, hailing from the sacred precincts of the Pike county hills, and under indictments in this county for burglary and larceny as result of breaking into the D. T. & L. depot at Jeffersonville and stealing a bicycle, sometime ago, was arrested Saturday, and Monday faced Judge Carpenter.

He entered a plea of guilty to the charge and was given an indeterminate term in Mansfield reformatory. The young man, who is colored, has quite a reputation for smooth work, it is understood, but bungled in his little deal at Jeffersonville.

CIRCUIT COURT IN SESSION HERE

The Fayette County Court of Appeals is now in session, beginning work Monday morning, with Judges Allread, Ferneding and Kunkle on the bench.

The docket is not very heavy and it is expected that Tuesday will wrap up the term in this city.

Among the cases to come before the court is that of Ohio against Sabina men, found guilty of seining.

Squelching the Rumors

Old dame rumor is the busy jade nowadays. She is stirring up quite a considerable uneasiness among the too credulous folks and, in some instances, interfering with some of the real necessary war activities.

In times like these rumors spring up from barren soil and grow rapidly to alarming proportions. Rumor is dangerous company any time but especially dangerous in times of great public excitement.

People should be careful not to repeat the wild tales which rumor puts in circulation. If we hear any of these preposterous stories we should hear them in silence and refuse to pass them on to those excitable persons who not only place absolute confidence in them, but repeat them with the solemn assurance that they know what they are talking about.

By the time the most ridiculous rumor has been repeated three or four times it ceases to be a rumor and becomes a fact, so far as the narrator is concerned. The thousands of good Americans, who are ready and anxious to do "a bit" to help in the war work, can do nothing more effective than to frown down these idle tales.

Analyze every tale carefully when it is told to you and before you pass it on, be sure, in your own mind, that it's a probable tale and then inquire at some of the many known sources of authentic information and get the facts.

In nine cases out of ten your own judgment will effectually dispose of the rumor without inquiry and many foolish tales will not travel far.

Stop and use your reason every time you come on the track of rumor and there will be less uneasiness and no damage.

It's All Right

Relatives and friends here are receiving now, letters and post cards from the home boys, who are "over there" with the Rainbow Division. The first written word came on Tuesday evening.

Soon now we will be hearing from other boys of ours, who have landed "safe in France."

While no news is, in times like these, acknowledged to be good news, yet just a word from the boy who is in France, even though anxious ones know it has been censored and mailed many days before its receipt, is a world of comfort to the anxious ones.

One of the boys just before he sailed for France wrote back. "It's all right. Don't worry. You wouldn't want me not to do my part in this war." And that's the last until the cards came on Tuesday last. That meant weary hours day and night until a word penned by own hand, came.

Of course its "all right" we all know that. No matter what happens that army of a million going to France to perform a great duty to mankind is certain to succeed. It can't fail. The men who go because it's right for them to go can't be conquered.

Foot Ball

In a few days now the foot ball season of 1917 will come to an end and follow base ball, tennis, horse racing and the other out of door sports into that great space which is always behind us—the past.

The call of the nation to its sons to go forth on to the field of battle and defend the ideals which they inherited from their forefathers who died for them in the revolutionary and the civil wars, has played havoc with many a famous eleven throughout the land. The schedule has been played out and the championships settled by clashes on the gridiron, but many of the famous stars of last year are in the cantonment camps, in officers training camps, at regular army posts and some doing duty at the front in France.

Foot ball and college athletics have given to the nation a powerful nucleus in youth, brain, morals, brawn and understanding around which and out of which is being constructed the great army of freedom, which is to do its part in making this world fit to live in.

Foot ball has probably given to the new army more of its star players than any other sport and, that fact has done much to give an answer to the so widely debated question, which has agitated so many good people for years,—why is foot ball?

It has developed hundreds of husky lads—given them muscle and courage along with the brains. They were ready when the call came for just such men and they responded.

When the November sun sinks behind the western horizon on Thanksgiving afternoon we can bid farewell to the foot ball season, conscious that the great old college game has more admirers although many star players are missing this year.

Poetry For Today

A WAR-TIME THANKSGIVING
 O! let us keep Thanksgiving Day,
 But not as heretofore
 With prodigal excess of food,
 But just enough—no more,
 Across the wide blue sea, behold!
 Our valiant Allies bleed,
 And starve in famine-stricken France
 For what we do not need.

At almost every table now
 A vacant place appears,
 And memories of a soldier-son
 Are crowned with tender tears
 And for his sake whose feet are led By battle's crimson star,
 Waste not a scrap of precious food,
 For food must win the war.

So let us keep Thanksgiving Day
 As neither feast nor fast,
 But as the Pilgrim Fathers kept Thanksgivings in the past,
 With simple fare and reverent thoughts,
 And gratitude sincere
 For harvests of the flood and field,
 And blessings of the year.

From Maine to California
 Givethanks unto the Lord
 That we for human liberty
 Have buckled on the sword;
 And thank Him for the patriots
 Who keep the flag unfurled,
 And also thank Him most of all
 That we can feed the world.

How old are you? Not in years, but inside your skull—and in your work? Do you see a younger man come in the office beside you? He is interested in EVERYTHING. Full of "pep." "That's old stuff," you say to yourself, he's just a kid, he'll get over it." Yes, but WILL he get over it? Some do and some don't. Look at the successful men you see or read about. By success I mean men that are independent, and don't have to worry whether they are going to be fired tomorrow or not. And have enough to live on comfortably if they wanted to retire. Every one of them that counts for a whoop still retains that old "pep" or in a longer word ENTHUSIASM. Keep that one thing and your future is unlimited. Lose it and you become a drifter. Keep ahead of the procession and boot your old foggy ideas out of the door.

LOSES EFFORT TO OBTAIN POSSESSION OF A MINOR CHILD

Judge Carpenter on Saturday evening handed down a decision in the case in which George Washington Kelly made a hard fight to obtain possession of his minor child, the custody of which had been awarded to his divorced wife now residing at Milledgeville, giving the custody of the child to the grandmother, Mrs. Dora Lynch, and doubling the amount which the man is to pay for supporting of the child, making a total of $5 per week he must pay toward supporting the child.

Deep interest centered on the case because of the fact that the man had obtained possession of the child, presumably in an effort to keep from being certified over for military service. He was exempted because he had declared that he had a child to support, but when the true conditions were brought to light, he was visited by secret service men, the child returned to the mother, and the man's exemption was revoked and he was certified over for service.

In an effort to obtain possession of the child once more he employed an attorney and had the case reopened, with the above mentioned result, which leaves him liable for military service and in the next contingent leaving this county.

FORMER RESIDENT MEETS DEATH IN STREET CAR CRASH

Caught between two street cars as they were leaving the Western avenue car burns in Dayton, Saturday, Edward Lambert, formerly of this county, was almost instantly killed.

Mr. Lambert, who was 48 years of age, formerly operated the elevator at Fairview east of this city, and from which place he moved to Dayton a few years ago.

The fatal accident occurred when Mr. Lambert, conductor on a Fifth street car starting west, got off to adjust a trolley which had slipped off. When he failed to take the eastbound switch another car plinned him between the two cars.

Mr. Lambert, in an unconscious condition was taken to the offices of the company nearby, but was dead when a physician reached the scene. His chest was caved in and one arm crushed.

Since leaving this county Mr. Lambert had been employed on the Fifth street division of the road in Dayton.

The unfortunate man leaves, besides his widow, Mrs. Martha Lambert, six children, Esther, Arthur, Charles, Olive, Mrs. Fern Schoupe and Mrs. Edna McMonigle, all of Dayton; his father, W. M. Lambert, four brothers, Orville, Harry, Webster and Herbert, and three sisters, Mrs. W. A. Smith, Mrs. Hattie Works and Myrtle Schanck.

CHURCHES OBSERVE THANKSGIVING

While the union Thanksgiving service will be held in the First Presbyterian church Thanksgiving night, there were also special services in touch with the season at a number of the churches Sunday.

GRACE M. E.

Rev. Arthur P. Cherrington impressed the Thanksgiving spirit at both services of Grace church Sunday and delivered an excellent Thanksgiving sermon in the evening.

At the morning service Prof. W. W. Davies, of the Ohio Wesleyan university, spoke in the morning on the "Ohio Wesleyan University Educational Jubilee," which is meeting with splendid success.

Prof. Davies is a fluent and interesting speaker and his address brought to the audience the latest word from the big jubilee campaign.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN

Rev. Wm. Boynton Gage presented the last sermon of a series on the Ten Commandments at the morning service. This is one of the strongest series of sermons that Rev. Gage has ever delivered.

The meaning of the Ten Commandments has been applied to both the actions of nations and of individuals and in its broad treatment has given new interpretation of the Mosaic law.

At night Rev. Gage continued his series of notable war sermons.

The special Thanksgiving feature of the day was a delightful little program put on by the Primary department of the Sunday school. Hon. C. A. Reid made an inspiring short address.

The Thanksgiving decorations were the most elaborate and beautiful ever seen in the church, and was done by Miss Clara, Messrs. Elmer and Raymond Zimmerman. Oak leaves and bitter sweet masked the chancel and pumpkins, corn, fodder and immense baskets of fruit were used with consummate skill.

3. For the position of leadership and moral authority accorded us by the free nations of the world who look to us most of all for succor and deliverance in this great world crisis.

4. For the unity, loyalty, patriotism and ready response from all classes and conditions of our people for service and sacrifice in this hour of our country's supreme need.

5. That God has shown his approval by giving us the most abundant harvests we have ever known, with which to feed the nation, the army, and the starving millions of Europe. And finally for a spirit of humanity and love for even our enemies, as seen in the Red Cross work on every battle field for both friend and foe. And for the Christ-like work of the Y. M. C. A. and churches of God in a ministry of love and salvation among the enemy prisoners as well as our own soldiers.

At the evening service the choir rendered a fine anthem in which Mrs. Walter McLean sang a soprano solo with pleasing effect.

The sermon was the last in the series: "Vital Truths of Human Interest." The special topic was: "What is Salvation." Other topics have been: "What is God?" "What is the Bible?" "What is Man?" "What is Sin?"

These great fundamental truths have been handled in the light of God's word, science and discovery, and couched in fresh modern language, pointed and bristling with the terrible realities of a world's contending forces in mighty conflict. Religion is not so much a thing of theories as of facts. Sin is faithlessness, treachery, selfishness, destruction and death. Christ is life, and light, and love.

These sermons have awakened great interest and thought and desire for the truth.

SERVICES CLOSED; NO FUEL AVAILABLE

Revival services which have been under way at the M. P. church in Milledgeville, the past two weeks, came to a permanent close, Sunday night, because no fuel is available for heating the building.

The services have been conducted under the direction of Rev. Ludwick, and Sunday night thirteen persons united with the church.

BURIAL MADE IN WASHINGTON CEMETERY

Rev. W. B. Gage conducted the funeral services of Mr. William Wilson, held at the home on the Waterloo pike.

Miss Ada Woodward sang.

The services were very largely attended and a long line of autos accompanied the family to the Washington cemetery for the burial.

The pall-bearers were Messrs. Jess Wilson, Harry Wilson, Alf Hicks, Della Harper, Jack Hidy, Henry Newman.

WHALE OF A FISH LANDED WITH LINE

Mr. H. C. Icenhower, well known sportsman of this city, was proudly exhibiting a huge pike or muskellunge fish, Saturday evening, which he had landed with hook and line near Waverly.

The big fellow weighed 10 pounds and 12 ounces, was 34 1/2 inches in length, and the largest fish caught by a local man this year. The muskellunge was landed by the use of artificial bait, and was placed on exhibition at the Brown Drug Store, where it attracted quite a great deal of attention.

MEATLESS DAY AT THE CHERRY HOTEL

The Cherry Hotel will observe a meatless day on Wednesday of each week, when fish, fowl and oysters will be served instead of the red meats.

By having one meatless day New York hotels and restaurants saved in one week 300 tons of meat, and 1200 barrels of flour through a wheatless day.

The saving in one month in New York alone would mean a whole shipload to send to our men and allies "over there."

The Deemster

CHAPTER VI.
The Bishop Tries His Own Son For Murder.

As he was a tenant of the bishop's barony, Dan would come up for trial before his own father for the murder of Ewan.

While he waited behind prison walls after giving himself up, the Deemster went to the bishop and quietly motioned him into the library of the house.

"Gilbert," said the Deemster imperiously, and he closed the door behind him as he spoke, "let us put away all pretense and talk like men. We have serious work before us, I promise you."

Then the Deemster asked deliberately: "What do you intend to do with the murderer of my son? You do not need that I should tell you what powers of jurisdiction over felonies are held by the bishop of this island. They are today what they were yesterday, and so I ask you, What do you intend to do with the murderer of my son?"

The poor bishop looked at the Deemster appealingly, but there was nothing of mercy in the eyes that looked at him.

"Man, man, do you wish to abuse me?" said the bishop piteously. "Do you come to drive me to despair? Is it not enough that I am bent to the earth with grief, but that you of all men should crush me with shame? Because I am a judge in the island as well as its poor priest am I to take him and put him to death? I am a father, and so are you. Could you condemn to death your own son?"

"My son has been slain, and I want revenge. It is for you to put the father aside and let the priest-judge come forward."

"Pity, pity; have pity!" the bishop murmured.

"Your church is also on trial, and if you fail in your duty the people will take things into their own hands." The bishop lifted his head proudly.

"Never fear," he said. "I shall do my duty. Leave me."

As the Deemster departed the bishop stood with bowed head, thinking of the son he must so soon judge in open court.

The day of the trial in open court Dan was brought from the prison in a cart, accompanied by the sergeant of the guard.

He stood in his great stature above the shoulders of the tallest of the men around him, and the women who were as far away as the door of the inn could see the seaman's cap he wore.

To the foot of the mount he was brought, but he never raised his eyes to where the bishop-judge and father stood above him.

Not a sound was heard save the deep breathing of the people around him.

Presently a full, clear voice was heard over the low murmur of the crowd, and instantly the mass of moving heads was lifted to the mount and the sea of faces flashed white under the heaviness of the sky.

"Dan Mylrea," said the bishop, and his voice wavered, "you have taken a precious life, you have spilled the blood of one who bore himself meekly and lovingly and with charity before the world. And you, who slew him in heat of malice, he ever loved with a great tenderness. Your guilt is confessed, your punishment is sure."

The crowd held its breath while the bishop spoke, and Dan stood with bowed head.

"Daniel Mylrea, there is sacredness in human life, and God who gave it guards it jealously. When man violates it God calls for vengeance, and if we who are his law givers on earth shut our ears to the voice of God his fierce anger goes forth as a whirlwind and his word as a fire upon men. Woe unto us if we sin against the Lord by withholding punishment."

"Righteously and without human mercy we, his servants, must exact judgment on the evildoer lest his wrath be poured upon this island, upon man and upon the fruit of the ground."

A strange light came into the eyes of the bishop, and his deep voice quavered.

"It is not the way of God's chastisement to take an eye for an eye, a tooth for a tooth. When the sword of the Lord goes forth it is sometimes to destroy the guilty man and sometimes to cut him off from the land of the living, to banish him to the parched places of the wilderness, to end his days wherein sleep shall not be sweet to him, to blot out his name from those of men and to give him no burial at the last when the darkness of death shall cover him."

There was silence.

"Daniel Mylrea, you are not to die for your crime."

At that threat the prisoner staggered and lifted his hand above his head.

The heart of the father was writhing with the soul of the judge, and every word that condemned the guilty man wounded the spirit of him that uttered it.

WASHINGTON HIGH LOSES IN HOTLY CONTESTED GAME

Chillicothe Walks Off With Victory by One Point After Knowing They Had "Seen Somewhere"—Cold Weather Adds to Handicap of Players.

Washington High played a stellar game of football, Saturday, but regardless of this fact was cast into the abyssal depth of defeat by a 14 to 13 score in one of the most interesting contests of the season, with Chillicothe the opposing team.

Captain Lewis won the toss-up and elected to receive the kick-off at the north goal. The Blue and White received the ball after a perfect kick and started off on a steady march down the field. On the eight yard line Swartz fumbled the ball, the result of benumbed hands, Chillicothe punted and Washington got the ball again. The first quarter ended 0 to 0.

In the second quarter the ball saw-sawed back and forth until late in the quarter, when Chillicothe, by a series of brilliant charges, forced the pigskin over the fatal line. Chillicothe kicked goal, and the score at the end of the second quarter was 7 to nothing in favor of the visitors.

The third quarter was a repetition of the second. Chillicothe got the ball on the first yard line early in the session. Washington held them there for three downs, but on the fourth down the oval was carried over by a scant margin of three or four inches. Washington failed to score in this quarter, and the score stood 14 to 0.

The fourth quarter found the boys of the Blue and White replete with the old time pep and fighting spirit. A triumphal march was started down the gridiron which netted Washington her first touchdown but failed to kick goal. W. Willis made the touchdown but failed to kick goal. A little later W. Willis again forced the ball over the line and kicked goal. After this play, only one and one quarter minutes of play remained. Washington kicked to Chillicothe and the game ended with the ball in the visitors' possession, and the final score 14 to 13 in favor of Chillicothe.

Officials—referee, Parker; time-keepers, Wetzel and Clark; head-linesman Brown. Time of quarters 11 and 12 minutes.

Many friends, both young and old, of Renick Allen, will be interested in the following clipping from the Columbia S. Ca. Daily:

"Col. A. R. Banks, superintendent of the Blytheood schools, has instructed many young men who later demonstrated their proficiency at West Point and Annapolis, and many of the leading universities of the United States. The latest addition to his enrollment is Renick Allen of Washington Court House, Ohio. Young Allen's father is Captain Charles Allen, in charge of the remount depot of the Dixie Division.

In addition to his school duties the boy finds time for other interests and is now organizing a troop of "American Citizens" at Blytheood, directed on a plan similar to the Boy Scout movement, but a step in advance."

TUESDAY Mother TUESDAY

is the most popular woman in the world and

Mother o' Mine

with Rupert Julian and Ruth Clifford playing the star parts. Miss La Fayette impersonates an old fashioned mother who longs for a visit from her son. He has repeatedly promised to come to her, and when her heart-hunger can no longer be appeased, she goes to his fashionable home and surprises him. The joy of anticipation was, however, her greatest happiness—for the son denied that she was his mother, and referred to her simply as "his old nurse." How this ingrate was made to see the light constitutes a telling lesson and the means he used to atone for his heartlessness works out consistently to the much desired happy ending.

INTERESTING SERVICE AT FLAG UNVEILING

The first service flag to swing out in a Washington C. H. church was unveiled Sunday morning in the Sunday school of the First Baptist church.

At the appointed hour two stalwart youths stepped promptly forward and drew aside the veiling flag revealing on a beautiful panel the names of seven gallant young men who had answered their country's call and had gone forth from the church or Sunday school to help win the great world war. Their names are: Earl West, Albert Briggs, Clarence Hard, Raymond Curt, William Sparks, Robert Willis and Harlan Melvin.

Seven blue stars set in a field of white with a broad red border mark the honored names on the service flag which hangs in loving memory on the church wall.

"Keep the Home Fires Burning," was beautifully sung by a male quart-tett, Messrs. Sprenger, Fred M. Mark, C. E. Morris, J. H. Hicks, arranged as a solo and chorus, Mr. Walter Sprenger taking the solo.

The stirring poem, "Your Flag and My Flag," was recited by one of the boys of the school, Morris Snider.
Appropriate remarks and prayer were offered by the pastor.

This historic and noteworthy ceremony was closed with the spirited singing of "America."

With the joy, a feeling of seriousness pervaded the church and school, for it is well known that other names will soon be added to the Service Flag.

SCANDANAVIA IS PRO-AMERICAN

(Associated Press Correspondence)

Christiana, November 22.—The part of the United States in the war is the subject of a continuous stream of articles in the Norwegian newspapers.
Norwegian interest in things American has always been much keener than that of the other Scandinavian countries, but it has never been more pronounced than now.

The newspaper Morgenbladet, which has never been quite so favorably disposed to the Entente as most of the Christiana newspapers, has shown a strong Pro-American bias since the extrance of the United States into the war. In a leading editorial it says:

"America is now the focus of war preparations. The experiences of three years' war on all fronts are being profitably assimilated, and the most systematic military training is being practiced under French and English officers. Special commissions from Europe superintend the manufacture of all that is needed by sea, by land, and in the air. Ammunition making is being driven on with unheard of intensity, standardization of air machines, experiment with new weapons, new technical inventions in every field. If there is any place where we can learn things, it is in America today."

"Norwegian naval and military attaches should be at once sent to America. In the future Norway will have to obtain more of her war material from the United States, and it is very important to strengthen our legation in Washington."

ach, coated tongue, bad breath, or other condition caused by clogged or iring old-fashioned physic that leaves no

AIRPLANE CIRCLES
AROUND OVER CITY
At noon Sunday an airplane, containing two men, and evidently headed from Chillicothe for the Fairfield aviation camp near Dayton, appeared over this city, and at a height of some 1500 feet the plane made two complete circles over the city, presumably for the benefit of thousands who thronged the streets, and then set off toward Dayton at a pace consider-ly in excess of a mile a minute.

The passing of airplanes is becoming frequent, but nevertheless they always attract widespread attention, and are always welcome visitors.

If someone who has a large, level field near this city will offer the same as a place where airplanes may land, it is expected that arrangements can be made for having airplanes stop at this point quite frequently.

THIS WOMAN IS ABLE TO ENJOY ANY FOOD NOW

Mrs. Mary Miller Tells How Tanlac Put Her Stomach Back in Good Shape—Recommends It.

"I can eat anything I want since I've been taking Tanlac," said Mrs. Mary Miller, 708 Race street, Cincinnati, O.
"Before I took Tanlac I had a lot of trouble with my stomach. I bloated badly after eating and I'd feel stuffy and drowsy for a long time. Food just seemed to lay in my stomach without digesting and it felt heavy. I could scarcely eat potatoes or anything greasy because of the bad effects that always resulted.

"I read and heard a lot about Tanlac being good for the stomach and so finally I tried it. It seemed to help me from the first. I kept getting better until now my stomach is back in fine shape again. I can eat anything I want without any bad effects at all.
"I think Tanlac is a great medicine and I recommend it."

It's the words of Ohioans that count.
Tanlac doesn't ask you to take the word of a man from Maine or a woman from California for its merit. Tanlac gets proof at home. You know you can trust the words of people from your home state so you know Tanlac is just the thing for you if you are weak or run down. You can get Tanlac at Blackmer & Tanquary's drug store, Frank Christopher's drug store or C. S. Haver's drug store. Advt.

STOMACH UPSET?

Get at the Real Cause—Take Dr.
Edwards' Olive Tablets

That's what thousands of stomach sufferers are doing now. Instead of taking tonics, or trying to patch up a poor digestion, they are attacking the real cause of the ailment—clogged liver and disordered bowels.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets arouse the liver in a soothing, healing way. When the liver and bowels are performing their natural functions, away goes indigestion and stomach troubles.

If you have a bad taste in your mouth, tongue coated, appetite poor, lazy, don't-care feeling, no ambition or energy, troubled with undigested foods, you should take Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. You will know them by their olive color. They do the work without gripping, cramps or pain.

Take one or two at bedtime for quick relief, so you can eat what you like.
At 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.
